Effectiveness of Image Campaign

For an image campaign, it's important that we follow the basic five steps of marketing performance measures:

1. Raise awareness
2. Become familiar
3. Get interested
4. Consider the brand
5. Take action

The Cooperative Image Campaign has shown good, steady results over the four flights of ads. More consumers are becoming familiar with credit unions. SIR says the results are very good considering the campaign is only 10-14 weeks.

Overall Conclusions

- Unaided awareness significantly increases familiarity with, interest in, and consideration of credit unions.
- Half of respondents reported seeing credit union advertisements. Ad recall shows significant lifts in awareness, familiarity, interest, consideration, and trial scores.
- The more consumers see ads, the more they become familiar, and eventually join
- Awareness and familiarity measures have not significantly changed over the four campaign waves, indicating a stable environment for credit unions.

2016 Campaign Next Steps

- Campaign will begin running across both states in May
- Considering a donut approach around elections by running ads May to July and pick up again in November after the election - depends on fundraising
- Turn the Petting Zoo ad into a TV ad
- Create another shareable content ad
- We are about $100,000 ahead in fundraising of where we were this time last year
- We have 9 new credit unions participating so far this year
- CUNA Mutual Group has come on as a sponsor
